RAIN POSTPONES THE DUAL MEET

TARKIO-BEARCAT FIELD EVENTS TO BE HELD MONDAY

BOTH WIN IN TENNIS

Were Played This Morning In Gymnasium—Steiger and Mapel For S. T. C. Wins Second Match

The dual track meet between Tarkio College and State Teachers College for this afternoon on the Maryville field, was postponed this morning until Monday on account of the rain and heavy track. Coach Giblette of Tarkio telephoned Coach Maynor this morning and postponment was agreed upon.

The tennis matches between the two schools, however, were held this morning in the gymnasium. Honors were divided in these two events, both doubles, Tarkio copping the first and the Bearcats tennis sharks winning the second.

In the first match Tarkio won in straight sets, 8-6 and 6-4. In the second match the Maryville team won two out of three sets, 7-9, 6-4, 6-4. Both matches were in mens doubles.

In the first match Maryville was represented by Goslee and Young and the Tarkio players were Wilson and McMullen. In the last of the two matches the Maryville players were Steiger and Mapel and the Tarkio representatives were Patterson and Gerlash.

In the first set of the opening match Tarkio obtained an early lead by winning Young's serve and held this lead until they were leading 5-3. At this juncture the Maryville boys picked up and a deuce set resulted. Later Young lost another serve and Tarkio took the first set 8-6. In the second set the visitors started out strong and before the locals could recover, the score in the games was 5-1 against them. It was then that Goslee in particular showed some first class tennis and Maryville took three straight games before Tarkio was able to push over the winning game. This set went 6-4.

In the second set probably the best two teams competed. At any rate the match was by far the most interesting and at times the spectators were brought to their feet by a sensational return.

The first set went to Tarkio after sixteen games had been played. The set was deuced at five, six and seven. Tarkio took the fifteenth game and then Mapel lost his serve, giving the visitors the set.

When the second set started the Maryville team was noticably more settled than in the first set and more care was taken in the placment of shots. Maryville served first and won. Then, by speedy tennis, the locals took Gerlash's serve and later won again on their own serve. With a three point lead against his team Patterson won his serve. Then Mapel won his and the score stood 4-1 in favor of Maryville. Gerlash came back and won his serve and then Steiger weakened a little and lost his. Patterson again won on his service and the games were four all. Then the Maryville boys tightened a little more and won the last two games of the set, taking it 6-4.

The third set ended as did the second. During this set all four players won their first serve, making the score two all. Then tarkio dropped a service and Maryville won two. Tarkio again won.

With the score 5-3 Tarkio took a game and then Maryville ended the match by winning the last game.

The most sensationa lplay of the game in the point before the final one in the last game. The ball was played from one side of the net to another for about thirty seconds before it was killed by the Maryville net man.

The matches were refereed by Howard Leech.

The Tarkio team arrived in Maryville exactly at 10 o'clock this morning. The trip was made in cars and the last few miles were driven in rain.

SUGAR PROBE ONLY A START

FAR REACHING EFFECT PREDICTED BY U. S. OFFICIALS

U. S. CONTROL COMING

Government's Theory Is That It Has Right To Step In and Regulate In Necessities of Life

Washington, April 20—The federal government's action, started in New York yesterday to stop gambling in sugar and to bring prices down to a reasonable level, was described today by administration officials as one of the most important and far-reaching pieces of litigation ever undertaken by the federal government.

Behind the government's blow at the sugar speculators there is a more vital purpose and reason than the mere recovery of a few cents per pound on sugar prices, important as that may be. In reaching this decision it is aimed to establish the principle that it has a right to step in and exercise partial regulatory control of the necessities of life whenever it considers the situation warrants.

Included in the injunction against the sugar exchanges of New York to prohibit them from dealing in futures, the third and perhaps the conclusive step in accomplishment of this aim will have been taken, according to officials.

The theory behind the government's campaign of action is based upon the conception of modern industrial life embracing three essential things, namely food, fuel and transportation. Anything that interferes with public service or any of these three things constitutes a public menace where the government must act, according to officials.

CITY CLEAN-UP WORK PROGRESSES

HEARTY RESPONSE BY RESIDENTS OF MARYVILLE

DUMP GROUND SECURED

City Has Contracted to Properly Fill Spoor Ravine—Will Haul it Off Tuesday

The clean-up and fix-up campaign for Maryville is meeting with excellent response by the residents and much improvement on many streets has been shown during the first two days of the campaign. Several persons have already sacked their junk and have it ready to be hauled off. Mayor W. O. Garrett said this morning that a few persons have called him asking if they might plant flowers upon the vacant side of the streets opposite their homes that has ordinarily grown up in weeds.

Next Tuesday the city wagons will cover Maryville and haul off all the rubbish, junk and refuse from the resident districts. The refuse must be in barrels, sacks or boxes and placed upon the parkway ready for the wagons when they make the rounds.

No refuse such as rotten fruits, vegetables, and the like that would create a stench, will be taken by the city wagons as such is forbidden to be left in to city dump.

Mayor Garrett and the city commissioners have contracted for a city dump for one year with the privilege of use for two years providing the ravine is not filled in one year. The dumping grounds will be an acre on the south end of the twenty acre plot of Warren Spoor in southeast Maryville. This acre, containing a large ravine, will be fenced off and kept under supervision of the city during the duration of the contract. It will be a city and not a public dumping ground and the city is under contract for the proper filling of this ravine. A man will be in charge of the dump next Tuesday to see that no undesirable refuse that would create a nuisance be allowed to unload.

Mayor Garrett said this morning that arangements would probably be made to allow refuse to be dumped a half day of each week during the summer and that a man will probably be stationed there to inspect the refuse unloaded. If this is done it will furnish an outlet for the city's garbage throughout the summer.

A proclamation officially setting next Tuesday as clean-up day was issued today by Mayor W. O. Garrett. It appears elsewhere in this issue.

ICE VICTIM STORY IS THOUGHT FALSE

ALTHOUGH EFFORT WAS MADE TO SEND PROVISIONS

OUTGROWTH OF GRUDGE

Men Who Wednesday Reported Party Starving on Island In Lake Michigan Deny It Today

Northport, Mich., April 20.—The reported plight of nine men and one woman, said to be starving upon Fox Island in Lake Michigan, was regarded as a fictitious story today as denials and conflicting stories by Edward Horn, one ofthe three men reaching Northport Wednesday night from the island. Horn and his two companions, men named Cooper and Syres, according to their story, reached mainland after struggling sixty hours in the ice floes, losing their skiff and were forced to complete the journey on a cake of ice, they allege.

The three are said to have told Robert A. Flood that the occupants on the island, a group of lumbermen in the employ of a packing company, had subsisted upon frozen potatoes only. After being questioned the men denied having told these stories and it is said that they were fired by the foreman of the lumber camp, crossed then to the mainland upon the ice and expressed their grudge by these "tall" stories.

"I never said that the persons were starving" Horn said. "We just quit and left. There is plenty of grub upon the mainland."

The Curtiss airplane, carrying provisions to the island, which crashed through the ice yesterday in an attempt to reach the "starving" party, is resting on slush ice today and is partly submerged.

Northport, Mich., April 20.—An airplane from Selfridge Field, Michigan, is winging is way towards this city today, bent on an errand of mercy. It is striving to reach Fox Island, twenty miles off shore, where nine men and a woman are said to be slowly starving. The plane will pick up provisions here then proceed to the island. In the meantime a ferry is fighting the icy waters and striving to reach the island.

The first word of the plight of the ten persons was brought by three of their companions, who left them several days ago and finally reached the shore late yesterday. The party went to the island last November to cut timber and were caught in the breaking of the ice floes.

Army Man Is Now a Helpless Invalid

Wabash, Ind., April 20.—John P. Kissinger, former Wabash county man, called "one of the bravest soldiers of the Spanish-American War" never faced a foe in battle or heard a bullet whine. He volunteered as a subject for army medical officers who were trying to solve the problem of the eradication of the yellow fever and is now a helpless invalid suffering from an incurable disease as a result of experiments made upon him.

Kissinger's story is told by H. A. Kelly, professor of surgery in Johns Hopkins University, who states that the young man volunteered for the dangerous service solely in the interest of humanity and the cause of science. Kissinger's act was reported as an "example of moral courage that has never been surpassed in the army of the United States."

TWO MILLION IN SECURITIES FOUND

ST. LOUIS POLICE UNEARTH LOOT OF DARING ROBBERY.

WORK OF EGAN'S GANG

Securities, Some Negotiable Found in Attic of Salesman's Home—Small Arsenal Discovered.

St. Louis, April 20.—An effort to identify some of the nine men as members of the bandit gang that staged the sensational mail truck robbery here recently, was being made today following the raid here of the home of an alleged Egan gangster, where more than 2 million bonds were recovered.

Part of the bonds were negotiable, but the majority of them were unsigned notes of the federal land bank.

The raid was made on the home of William F. Boering, 29 years old, a tire salesman, who police declare is a member of the Egan gang. The notes were found in a suitcase in the attic of his bungalow. A further search of the house revealed a small arsenal of dynamite caps, fuses, sawed off shotguns and revolvers. Eight other men were arrested upon suspicion with Boering.

The county court was in session this afternoon to open bids for the construction of three steel spans. The lowest bid was the one presented by the Standard Bridge Co., of Omaha and W. W. Randall of Maryville, their bid amounting to $14,462 for the three bridges. Charles Hollensbee of Pickering had a bid of $6,283.90 for two of the bridges, and G. A. Wilson Bridge Co., of Red Oak, Ia., had a bid of $10,700 for the 165 foot steel span.

The 165 foot steel span will be built over the Nodaway River Drainage ditch, west of Skidmore. For the purchase price of this bridge, $4,000 will be received from the drainage district. The 60 foot steel span will be built across the Elkhorn creek near Graham, and the 75 foot steel span will be built east of Graham.

Only one bid was received for the digging of a ditch and making a fill near Joe Carden's farm in Green township. This was the bid of W. W. Randall of this city who figured 40 cents per yard for the excavation and 33 cents per yard for the fill work.

The Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Christian Church here, and Mrs. Snodgrass returned to Maryville at noon today from Kansas City, where they have been attending the eighty-sixth annual convention of the Missouri Disciples of Christ. Election of officer was held yesterday and Mr. Snodgrass was chosen vice-president of the state organization. The Rev. W. G. Alcorn of Fulton was elected president.

"The outstanding feature of the meeting," said Mr. Snodgrass, "was the planning for the evangelistic campaign by the department of the United Christian Missionary Society. They are promoting an evangelistic campaign which will be held simultaneously in the central western states beginning September 1."

Jesse M. Bader, national superintendent of evangelism, will have charge of the campaign and all churches with the county as the unit, are urged to make their plans accordingly. 8 ARE KILLED IN "RED" RIOTS

RUHR DISTRICTS VICTIMS OF COMMUNIST DEMONSTRATIONS

FOOD STORES ARE RAIDED

Heavy Destruction of Property and Over 30 Injured—French Troops Stand By

Berlin, April 20—Eight persons are reported dead and thirty others injured in "Red" rioting at Mulhiem today. French troops, stationed there made no effort to interfere when the communists siezed the principal streets of the city and attacked the police. Destruction to property was enormous.

The German police, who fortified themselves in the city hall, returned fire but they were fighting against odds in numbers. Communists were reported to have raided food stores and seized motor cars.

The trouble has spread beyond Mulhiem but French troops co-operated in an effort to quell the disorders. Many arrests are being made and after the leaders were taken the rank and file began to retire.

Late advices from Essen say they are getting the situation in hand.

Shot From Shotgun Fired Into House

Thought That Party in Auto Fired Into the Home of W. F. Shawver, Six Miles West of City

Shortly after twelve o'clock yesterday noon, a shot evidently from a shotgun was fired through the window of the W. F. Shawver home, who lives six miles west of Maryville.

The shot made a clean hole through the screen and window and imbedded itself in a sugar bowl on the dining room table. The Shawver family had just finished their noon day meal and Mr. Shawver was out in the barn lot on his way to the field. Mrs. Shawver and young daughter were in the kitchen at the time but Mrs. Shawver looked out of the window in time to see a car speeding west. It was thought the party who fired the shot was in the car.

An investigation was made of the affair by Sheriff Steve Roach but as yet no arrest has been made.

Mr. Shawver kept a high power rifle at his home and would have used it if he had been at home at the time.

Detour Necessary on the Wilcox Road

On account of the state road work being done on the road near Wilcox, a portion of this road will be closed after Monday for some time to allow the completion of the work. The road will be closed from the Deardorff corner, two miles north and two miles west of the Bovard corner to Wilcox. This will necessitate a detour and cars are directed to go west on the Quitman road, a mile north of the Bovard corner to a point a mile and a half south of Wilcox then north into Wilcox. Detour signs are being put up, which bear a little slogan at the botton. "Why build good roads unless they are maintained."

Hadley for President of the State University?

The curators of the University of Missouri at a meeting the first week in May in St. Louis, will resume their efforts to obtain a permanent president for the state school at Columbia.

While the board has no one definitely in mind it is known that several of the curators favor Herbert S. Hadley, ex-governer, and now a law lecturer in the University of Colorado at Boulder. Many of the Missouri university alumni and business men, desiring to obtain a nationally known figure to head the school, have been urging the selection of Mr. Hadley.

They point out that with his wide experience with public affairs, and in an important executive capacity, he would bring an outside point of view to university matters that would be exceedingly helpful. They feel that he would be an inspirational figure to the students, and that his selection would make the university nationally known.

Since his retirement from the governorship in 1913, Mr. Hadley has devoted much of his time to educational work. Ill health forced him to remove to Colorado about six years ago. His recent book, "Rome and the World Today," with its interpretation of historical events, attracted wide attention.

Feelers have been put out by members of the board of curators to learn whether Mr. Hadley believed his health would permit him to assume the arduous duties of university president. It is understood Mr. Hadley has replied his health has so improved he feels able to undertake the task. However, Mr. Hadley has made no campaign for the place. He probably would accept the presidency, if offered him, only under the urgings of those interested in pushing forward the big state school.

Elly Ney Descendant of Famous French Hero

Pianist To Appear During Music Week Is Directly Related To Marshall Ney

An interesting account of Elly Ney, woman pianist, who will appear in concert here during Music Week, is given in the catalogue of the Brunswick Company, for which she makes records. Many of her records are for sale in Maryville. The following is the article:

Elly Ney, unquestionably the greatest living woman pianist, if not the greatest of all time is a direct descendant of the famous General Ney, Marshal of France. Even before the war America nmanagers had long sought to bring her to America but it was not until last year that her long expected American tour was made. American and European critics pronounce her the leading exponent of Brahams among pianists. From her earliest girlhood Elly Ney showed a passionate devotion to music. At ten she won a scholarship in one of the German conservatories. At sixteen she had won first prize in a nation wide musical contest, and a year later the converted and hotly contested Mendelssohn prize. Among her teachers were Clara Schumann and the great Leschetizky.

"Music" she says, "is the expression of the deepest spiritual revelations." Her intense absorbtion of her art is her dominant characteristic and she plays with a primitive power and fervor that hold her audiences completely spellbound from the firs' note to the last.

What of America?

Shall This Government Live or Die?

In Washington's career mankind perceived some change in their ideas of greatness; the splendor of power and even the name of conqueror had grown dim in their eyes.—Fisher Ames.

XVI.

The Exploit That Carried Washington's Name Beyond the Sea

The French and Indian war was now fully on and General Braddock was come with his red-coats to teach the enemy on the Ohio a lesson of England's greatness. Braddock brought two veteran regiments, with artillery and all things complete for the biggest campaign the frontier had seen, and there was a great stir in Virginia when the king's troops sailed up the Potomac and landed at Alexandria for their march to the wilderness.

To Braddock it was to be but a small business. He told Franklin, who had done wonders in organizing a wagon train to transport the expedition's supplies, that Ft. Duquesne would not detain him above three or four days. After that he was to march on and take Niagara and then Frontenac. To which Franklin replied after his manner that before taking Duquesne Braddock would have to get there.

Washington joined the colors as colonel on Braddock's staff, his purpose being, as he wrote: "To attain some knowledge of the military profession.....under a gentleman of General Braddock's abilities and experience." Of the abilities, as we have seen, General Braddock had a pretty good opinion of himself; too good to listen to the advice of a Virginia officer who never had held the king's commission, and so paid no attention when Washington warned him that the formation and tactics of an army that had known only European warfare were unsuited to a forest battle field with Indians as adversaries. Braddock, brave, resolute, obstinate, sometimes laughed at this advice, sometimes was angry at it, and now and then grudgingly gave way on minor points. "The raw American militia," he said might not know how to deal with the enemy, but it would be a different story when British regulars dealt with them.

Just across the Monogahela, with Ft. Duquesne still eight miles away, the disaster came. The British van, marching in ordered ranks along the narrow forest trail with never a skirmisher on front or flank, marched into the prepared trap. Two hundred French and six hundred Indians, hardly a marksman of them visible in the thick forest growth, opened fire at once. The advance column was cut to pieces before the bewildered and panic-stricken British could tell where to direct their fire. Braddock came up with the second division, and tried vainly to check the flight of the shattered van. Washington, riding in the thickest of the fight, implored the general to spread his men out into the woods. Braddock refused. He knew only one way to fight, and that was in platoon formation. Even when his men tried to take cover and meet the enemy with his own tactics, Braddock beat them back into line with his sword. There they were shot down without a chance for their lives until Braddock, seeing the futility of resistance, ordered a retreat. Then the regulars fled in the wildest rout.

The remnant of the beaten British was saved by the heroic efforts of Washington, who brought up and deployed his Indian fighters—"the raw American militia"—and protected its retreat. Two horses were shot under him; four bullets pierced his coat. He brought off what was left of Braddock's army, and then recorded what he thought of their conduct. Their "dastardly behavior," he wrote, in a flame of that indignation he never learned or tried to repress, "exposed those who were inclined to do their duty to almost certain death." This habit of setting down his exact meaning in exact words was to remain with him as a future congress was to learn.

Braddock himself was mortally wounded. Stretched in a wagon, he started back over that trail along which he had advanced so confidently. We lose sight of his bodily wound in contemplation of that which his professional soldier mind had received. Amazement seems to have made him dumb. Twice only words escaped him as the jolting wagon bore him back, not to the settlements, but to death on the road.

"Who would have thought it!" he exclaimed once, and then, after long silence, and just before he died, came that pathetic utterance that shows he had learned his lesson, if too late.

"We shall know better how to deal with them next time."

Washington's exploit brought him wide recognition, but the stupidity and bungling of the whole British military administration in the war seems to have deprived him of any personal satisfaction in his own fame. He retired, depressed and ill to Mount Vernon, and though he once more emerged when his health was recovered and took fresh command on the Ohio, it was to again meet the same obstacles of military prejudice, inefficiency, debafe and delay that marked the king's service throughout the war.

But he was now without question Virginia's foremost man, and in 1759, when he was 27 years old, he was elected to a seat in the house of burgesses. When he was welcomed to Williamsburg by the speaker of the house, Colonel Washington, always a little shy under public gaze, became embarassed when he rose to reply and could not go on. Then came that gracious speech of Speaker Robinson, that was the voice of all Virginia.

"Sit down, Mr. Washington, your modesty is equal to your valor, and that surpasses the power of any language that I possess."

Thousands have weak Blood and don't know it—

YOU can "spot" them, wherever you meet—pale and anemic! You know, too, the rosy lipped, correct weight, snappy eyed man or woman, with rich red blood. You recognize them at a glance! Remember this, the number of blood-cells you have controls your nerves, your vitality, your health and strength! It is all you have! The answer, then, is, build up your blood-power! S. S. S. will do it! It is the greatest blood-cell builder known. This is why it has proven such startling results in rheumatic conditions, in stopping pimples, boils, eczema, skin eruptions, in clearing and beautifying the complexion, and in building up thin, worn-out men and women. Stronger and more useful nerves depend on blood-power. S. S. S. will give you that greater energy, strength and a more youthful appearance.

Mr. C. Vega, 1228 Vine Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, writes: "I have followed your directions carefully and am highly pleased. S.S.S. has improved my complexion. I have gained in weight and feel much stronger."

Try it yourself. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is more economical. Get a bottle today!

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again

Get health—Keep health—Feel fine by eating Kellogg's Bran regularly!

Constipation and the toxic poisonings that come from it not only take the enthusiasm out of life, making you depressed and physically and mentally dull—but they lead you into diseases such as Bright's, diabetes, rheumatism, etc. You can actually rid yourself of these dangers if you will EAT KELLOGG'S BRAN REGULARLY!—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases with every meal!

Kellogg's Bran is nature's most wonderful food. It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that as no other food can! Don't take a chance of "getting away" with constipation—IT WILL GET YOU! Don't ruin your health with pills and cathartics—they are as dangerous as constipation itself and give but temporary relief, at the very best!

What you should do for your family and for yourself is to serve Kellogg's Bran every day, in any one of several attractive ways, and fight constipation as you have never fought it before! AND YOU WILL WIN.

In the first place, Kellogg's Bran is delicious in its nut-like flavor, adding greatly to any cereal with which it is used. Eat bran as a cereal with hot milk, or mix it with hot cereal before serving. Another method is to cook Kellogg's Bran with cereal. In each case add two tablespoonfuls of bran for each person. A popular way is to sprinkle bran on hot or cold cereal. Bran makes wonderful bakery products. Recipes are printed on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is served in leading hotels, restaurants and clubs. It is sold by all grocers.

More Corn Per Acre

A poor stand of corn results in a smaller crop than the soil will sustain—and it takes just as much time and labor to produce a small crop as it does to produce a big crop. On the other hand an excessive stand results in poorer stalks and in poorly-developed ears. Best results come from putting exactly the desired number in each hill. You get the biggest yield of well-developed corn with the

TARKIO-BEARCAT FIELD EVENTS TO BE HELD MONDAY

BOTH WIN IN TENNIS

Were Played This Morning In Gymnasium—Steiger and Mapel For S. T. C. Wins Second Match

The dual track meet between Tarkio College and State Teachers College for this afternoon on the Maryville field, was postponed this morning until Monday on account of the rain and heavy track. Coach Giblette of Tarkio telephoned Coach Maynor this morning and postponment was agreed upon.

The tennis matches between the two schools, however, were held this morning in the gymnasium. Honors were divided in these two events, both doubles, Tarkio copping the first and the Bearcats tennis sharks winning the second.

In the first match Tarkio won in straight sets, 8-6 and 6-4. In the second match the Maryville team won two out of three sets, 7-9, 6-4, 6-4. Both matches were in mens doubles.

In the first match Maryville was represented by Goslee and Young and the Tarkio players were Wilson and McMullen. In the last of the two matches the Maryville players were Steiger and Mapel and the Tarkio representatives were Patterson and Gerlash.

In the first set of the opening match Tarkio obtained an early lead by winning Young's serve and held this lead until they were leading 5-3. At this juncture the Maryville boys picked up and a deuce set resulted. Later Young lost another serve and Tarkio took the first set 8-6. In the second set the visitors started out strong and before the locals could recover, the score in the games was 5-1 against them. It was then that Goslee in particular showed some first class tennis and Maryville took three straight games before Tarkio was able to push over the winning game. This set went 6-4.

In the second set probably the best two teams competed. At any rate the match was by far the most interesting and at times the spectators were brought to their feet by a sensational return.

The first set went to Tarkio after sixteen games had been played. The set was deuced at five, six and seven. Tarkio took the fifteenth game and then Mapel lost his serve, giving the visitors the set.

When the second set started the Maryville team was noticably more settled than in the first set and more care was taken in the placment of shots. Maryville served first and won. Then, by speedy tennis, the locals took Gerlash's serve and later won again on their own serve. With a three point lead against his team Patterson won his serve. Then Mapel won his and the score stood 4-1 in favor of Maryville. Gerlash came back and won his serve and then Steiger weakened a little and lost his. Patterson again won on his service and the games were four all. Then the Maryville boys tightened a little more and won the last two games of the set, taking it 6-4.

The third set ended as did the second. During this set all four players won their first serve, making the score two all. Then tarkio dropped a service and Maryville won two. Tarkio again won.

With the score 5-3 Tarkio took a game and then Maryville ended the match by winning the last game.

The most sensationa lplay of the game in the point before the final one in the last game. The ball was played from one side of the net to another for about thirty seconds before it was killed by the Maryville net man.

The matches were refereed by Howard Leech.

The Tarkio team arrived in Maryville exactly at 10 o'clock this morning. The trip was made in cars and the last few miles were driven in rain.

SUGAR PROBE ONLY A START

FAR REACHING EFFECT PREDICTED BY U. S. OFFICIALS

U. S. CONTROL COMING

Government's Theory Is That It Has Right To Step In and Regulate In Necessities of Life

Washington, April 20—The federal government's action, started in New York yesterday to stop gambling in sugar and to bring prices down to a reasonable level, was described today by administration officials as one of the most important and far-reaching pieces of litigation ever undertaken by the federal government.

Behind the government's blow at the sugar speculators there is a more vital purpose and reason than the mere recovery of a few cents per pound on sugar prices, important as that may be. In reaching this decision it is aimed to establish the principle that it has a right to step in and exercise partial regulatory control of the necessities of life whenever it considers the situation warrants.

Included in the injunction against the sugar exchanges of New York to prohibit them from dealing in futures, the third and perhaps the conclusive step in accomplishment of this aim will have been taken, according to officials.

The theory behind the government's campaign of action is based upon the conception of modern industrial life embracing three essential things, namely food, fuel and transportation. Anything that interferes with public service or any of these three things constitutes a public menace where the government must act, according to officials.

CITY CLEAN-UP WORK PROGRESSES

HEARTY RESPONSE BY RESIDENTS OF MARYVILLE

DUMP GROUND SECURED

City Has Contracted to Properly Fill Spoor Ravine—Will Haul it Off Tuesday

The clean-up and fix-up campaign for Maryville is meeting with excellent response by the residents and much improvement on many streets has been shown during the first two days of the campaign. Several persons have already sacked their junk and have it ready to be hauled off. Mayor W. O. Garrett said this morning that a few persons have called him asking if they might plant flowers upon the vacant side of the streets opposite their homes that has ordinarily grown up in weeds.

Next Tuesday the city wagons will cover Maryville and haul off all the rubbish, junk and refuse from the resident districts. The refuse must be in barrels, sacks or boxes and placed upon the parkway ready for the wagons when they make the rounds.

No refuse such as rotten fruits, vegetables, and the like that would create a stench, will be taken by the city wagons as such is forbidden to be left in to city dump.

Mayor Garrett and the city commissioners have contracted for a city dump for one year with the privilege of use for two years providing the ravine is not filled in one year. The dumping grounds will be an acre on the south end of the twenty acre plot of Warren Spoor in southeast Maryville. This acre, containing a large ravine, will be fenced off and kept under supervision of the city during the duration of the contract. It will be a city and not a public dumping ground and the city is under contract for the proper filling of this ravine. A man will be in charge of the dump next Tuesday to see that no undesirable refuse that would create a nuisance be allowed to unload.

Mayor Garrett said this morning that arangements would probably be made to allow refuse to be dumped a half day of each week during the summer and that a man will probably be stationed there to inspect the refuse unloaded. If this is done it will furnish an outlet for the city's garbage throughout the summer.

A proclamation officially setting next Tuesday as clean-up day was issued today by Mayor W. O. Garrett. It appears elsewhere in this issue.

ICE VICTIM STORY IS THOUGHT FALSE

ALTHOUGH EFFORT WAS MADE TO SEND PROVISIONS

OUTGROWTH OF GRUDGE

Northport, Mich., April 20.—The reported plight of nine men and one woman, said to be starving upon Fox Island in Lake Michigan, was regarded as a fictitious story today as denials and conflicting stories by Edward Horn, one ofthe three men reaching Northport Wednesday night from the island. Horn and his two companions, men named Cooper and Syres, according to their story, reached mainland after struggling sixty hours in the ice floes, losing their skiff and were forced to complete the journey on a cake of ice, they allege.

The three are said to have told Robert A. Flood that the occupants on the island, a group of lumbermen in the employ of a packing company, had subsisted upon frozen potatoes only. After being questioned the men denied having told these stories and it is said that they were fired by the foreman of the lumber camp, crossed then to the mainland upon the ice and expressed their grudge by these "tall" stories.

"I never said that the persons were starving" Horn said. "We just quit and left. There is plenty of grub upon the mainland."

The Curtiss airplane, carrying provisions to the island, which crashed through the ice yesterday in an attempt to reach the "starving" party, is resting on slush ice today and is partly submerged.

Northport, Mich., April 20.—An airplane from Selfridge Field, Michigan, is winging is way towards this city today, bent on an errand of mercy. It is striving to reach Fox Island, twenty miles off shore, where nine men and a woman are said to be slowly starving. The plane will pick up provisions here then proceed to the island. In the meantime a ferry is fighting the icy waters and striving to reach the island.

The first word of the plight of the ten persons was brought by three of their companions, who left them several days ago and finally reached the shore late yesterday. The party went to the island last November to cut timber and were caught in the breaking of the ice floes.

Army Man Is Now a Helpless Invalid

Wabash, Ind., April 20.—John P. Kissinger, former Wabash county man, called "one of the bravest soldiers of the Spanish-American War" never faced a foe in battle or heard a bullet whine. He volunteered as a subject for army medical officers who were trying to solve the problem of the eradication of the yellow fever and is now a helpless invalid suffering from an incurable disease as a result of experiments made upon him.

Kissinger's story is told by H. A. Kelly, professor of surgery in Johns Hopkins University, who states that the young man volunteered for the dangerous service solely in the interest of humanity and the cause of science. Kissinger's act was reported as an "example of moral courage that has never been surpassed in the army of the United States."

TWO MILLION IN SECURITIES FOUND

ST. LOUIS POLICE UNEARTH LOOT OF DARING ROBBERY.

WORK OF EGAN'S GANG

Securities, Some Negotiable Found in Attic of Salesman's Home—Small Arsenal Discovered.

St. Louis, April 20.—An effort to identify some of the nine men as members of the bandit gang that staged the sensational mail truck robbery here recently, was being made today following the raid here of the home of an alleged Egan gangster, where more than 2 million bonds were recovered.

Part of the bonds were negotiable, but the majority of them were unsigned notes of the federal land bank.

The raid was made on the home of William F. Boering, 29 years old, a tire salesman, who police declare is a member of the Egan gang. The notes were found in a suitcase in the attic of his bungalow. A further search of the house revealed a small arsenal of dynamite caps, fuses, sawed off shotguns and revolvers. Eight other men were arrested upon suspicion with Boering.

Snodgrass Vice-Head of State Organization

Chosen Vice-President at Kansas City Convention Yesterday—Plan Evangelistic Campaign.

The Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Christian Church here, and Mrs. Snodgrass returned to Maryville at noon today from Kansas City, where they have been attending the eighty-sixth annual convention of the Missouri Disciples of Christ. Election of officer was held yesterday and Mr. Snodgrass was chosen vice-president of the state organization. The Rev. W. G. Alcorn of Fulton was elected president.

"The outstanding feature of the meeting," said Mr. Snodgrass, "was the planning for the evangelistic campaign by the department of the United Christian Missionary Society. They are promoting an evangelistic campaign which will be held simultaneously in the central western states beginning September 1."

Jesse M. Bader, national superintendent of evangelism, will have charge of the campaign and all churches with the county as the unit, are urged to make their plans accordingly. 8 ARE KILLED IN "RED" RIOTS

FOOD STORES ARE RAIDED

Heavy Destruction of Property and Over 30 Injured—French Troops Stand By

Berlin, April 20—Eight persons are reported dead and thirty others injured in "Red" rioting at Mulhiem today. French troops, stationed there made no effort to interfere when the communists siezed the principal streets of the city and attacked the police. Destruction to property was enormous.

The German police, who fortified themselves in the city hall, returned fire but they were fighting against odds in numbers. Communists were reported to have raided food stores and seized motor cars.

The trouble has spread beyond Mulhiem but French troops co-operated in an effort to quell the disorders. Many arrests are being made and after the leaders were taken the rank and file began to retire.

Late advices from Essen say they are getting the situation in hand.

Shot From Shotgun Fired Into House

Thought That Party in Auto Fired Into the Home of W. F. Shawver, Six Miles West of City

Shortly after twelve o'clock yesterday noon, a shot evidently from a shotgun was fired through the window of the W. F. Shawver home, who lives six miles west of Maryville.

The shot made a clean hole through the screen and window and imbedded itself in a sugar bowl on the dining room table. The Shawver family had just finished their noon day meal and Mr. Shawver was out in the barn lot on his way to the field. Mrs. Shawver and young daughter were in the kitchen at the time but Mrs. Shawver looked out of the window in time to see a car speeding west. It was thought the party who fired the shot was in the car.

An investigation was made of the affair by Sheriff Steve Roach but as yet no arrest has been made.

Mr. Shawver kept a high power rifle at his home and would have used it if he had been at home at the time.

The date set for the wedding is Monday night, April 30. Advance information says that all of the best dramatic talent of the city will be seen in this production.

A similar wedding will be held next Tuesday at Burlington Junction by the Christian Church there. Detailed plans and cast of characters will be announced later.

Detour Necessary on the Wilcox Road

On account of the state road work being done on the road near Wilcox, a portion of this road will be closed after Monday for some time to allow the completion of the work. The road will be closed from the Deardorff corner, two miles north and two miles west of the Bovard corner to Wilcox. This will necessitate a detour and cars are directed to go west on the Quitman road, a mile north of the Bovard corner to a point a mile and a half south of Wilcox then north into Wilcox. Detour signs are being put up, which bear a little slogan at the botton. "Why build good roads unless they are maintained."

Hadley for President of the State University?

The curators of the University of Missouri at a meeting the first week in May in St. Louis, will resume their efforts to obtain a permanent president for the state school at Columbia.

While the board has no one definitely in mind it is known that several of the curators favor Herbert S. Hadley, ex-governor, and now a law lecturer in the University of Colorado at Boulder. Many of the Missouri university alumni and business men, desiring to obtain a nationally known figure to head the school, have been urging the selection of Mr. Hadley.

They point out that with his wide experience with public affairs, and in an important executive capacity, he would bring an outside point of view to university matters that would be exceedingly helpful. They feel that he would be an inspirational figure to the students, and that his selection would make the university nationally known.

Since his retirement from the governorship in 1913, Mr. Hadley has devoted much of his time to educational work. Ill health forced him to remove to Colorado about six years ago. His recent book, "Rome and the World Today," with its interpretation of historical events, attracted wide attention.

Feelers have been put out by members of the board of curators to learn whether Mr. Hadley believed his health would permit him to assume the arduous duties of university president. It is understood Mr. Hadley has replied his health has so improved he feels able to undertake the task. However, Mr. Hadley has made no campaign for the place. He probably would accept the presidency, if offered him, only under the urgings of those interested in pushing forward the big state school.

Elly Ney Descendant of Famous French Hero

Pianist To Appear During Music Week Is Directly Related To Marshall Ney

An interesting account of Elly Ney, woman pianist, who will appear in concert here during Music Week, is given in the catalogue of the Brunswick Company, for which she makes records. Many of her records are for sale in Maryville. The following is the article:

Elly Ney, unquestionably the greatest living woman pianist, if not the greatest of all time is a direct descendant of the famous General Ney, Marshal of France. Even before the war America nmanagers had long sought to bring her to America but it was not until last year that her long expected American tour was made. American and European critics pronounce her the leading exponent of Brahams among pianists. From her earliest girlhood Elly Ney showed a passionate devotion to music. At ten she won a scholarship in one of the German conservatories. At sixteen she had won first prize in a nation wide musical contest, and a year later the converted and hotly contested Mendelssohn prize. Among her teachers were Clara Schumann and the great Leschetizky.

"Music" she says, "is the expression of the deepest spiritual revelations." Her intense absorbtion of her art is her dominant characteristic and she plays with a primitive power and fervor that hold her audiences completely spellbound from the firs' note to the last.

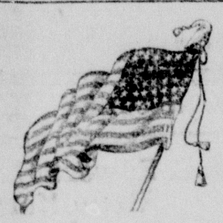
What of America?



Shall This Government Live or Die?

In Washington's career mankind preceived some change in their ideas of greatness; the splendor of power and even the name of conqueror had grown dim in their eyes.—Fisher Ames.

XVI.

The Exploit That Carried Washington's Name Beyond the Sea

The French and Indian war was now fully on and General Braddock was come with his red-coats to teach the enemy on the Ohio a lesson of England's greatness. Braddock brought two veteran regiments, with artillery and all things complete for the biggest campaign the frontier had seen, and there was a great stir in Virginia when the king's troops sailed up the Potomac and landed at Alexandria for their march to the wilderness.

To Braddock it was to be but a small business. He told Franklin, who had done wonders in organizing a wagon train to transport the expedition's supplies, that Ft. Duquesne would not detain him above three or four days. After that he was to march on and take Niagara and then Frontenac. To which Franklin replied after his manner that before taking Duquesne Braddock would have to get there.

Washington joined the colors as colonel on Braddock's staff, his purpose being, as he wrote: "To attain some knowledge of the military profession.....under a gentleman of General Braddock's abilities and experience." Of the abilities, as we have seen, General Braddock had a pretty good opinion of himself; too good to listen to the advice of a Virginia officer who never had held the king's commission, and so paid no attention when Washington warned him that the formation and tactics of an army that had known only European warfare were unsuited to a forest battle field with Indians as adversaries. Braddock, brave, resolute, obstinate, sometimes laughed at this advice, sometimes was angry at it, and now and then grudgingly gave way on minor points. "The raw American militia," he said might not know how to deal with the enemy, but it would be a different story when British regulars dealt with them.

Just across the Monogahela, with Ft. Duquesne still eight miles away, the disaster came. The British van, marching in ordered ranks along the narrow forest trail with never a skirmisher on front or flank, marched into the prepared trap. Two hundred French and six hundred Indians, hardly a marksman of them visible in the thick forest growth, opened fire at once. The advance column was cut to pieces before the bewildered and panic-stricken British could tell where to direct their fire. Braddock came up with the second division, and tried vainly to check the flight of the shattered van. Washington, riding in the thickest of the fight, implored the general to spread his men out into the woods. Braddock refused. He knew only one way to fight, and that was in platoon formation. Even when his men tried to take cover and meet the enemy with his own tactics, Braddock beat them back into line with his sword. There they were shot down without a chance for their lives until Braddock, seeing the futility of resistance, ordered a retreat. Then the regulars fled in the wildest rout.

The remnant of the beaten British was saved by the heroic efforts of Washington, who brought up and deployed his Indian fighters—"the raw American militia"—and protected its retreat. Two horses were shot under him; four bullets pierced his coat. He brought off what was left of Braddock's army, and then recorded what he thought of their conduct. Their "dastardly behavior," he wrote, in a flame of that indignation he never learned or tried to repress, "exposed those who were inclined to do their duty to almost certain death." This habit of setting down his exact meaning in exact words was to remain with him as a future congress was to learn.

Braddock himself was mortally wounded. Stretched in a wagon, he started back over that trail along which he had advanced so confindently. We lose sight of his bodily wound in contemplation of that which his professional soldier mind had received. Amazement seems to have made him dumb. Twice only words escaped him as the jolting wagon bore him back, not to the settlements, but to death on the road.

"Who would have thought it!" he exclaimed once, and then, after long silence, and just before he died, came that pathetic utterance that shows he had learned his lesson, if too late.

"We shall know better how to deal with them next time."

Washington's exploit brought him wide recognition, but the stupidity and bungling of the whole British military administration in the war seems to have deprived him of any personal satisfaction in his own fame. He retired, depressed and ill to Mount Vernon, and though he once more emerged when his health was recovered and took fresh command on the Ohio, it was to again meet the same obstacles of military prejudice, inefficiency, debafe and delay that marked the king's service throughout the war.

But he was now without question Virginia's foremost man, and in 1759, when he was 27 years old, he was elected to a seat in the house of burgesses. When he was welcomed to Williamsburg by the speaker of the house, Colonel Washington, always a little shy under public gaze, became embarassed when he rose to reply and could not go on. Then came that gracious speech of Speaker Robinson, that was the voice of all Virginia.

"Sit down, Mr. Washington, your modesty is equal to your valor, and that surpasses the power of any language that I possess."

NEW FEATURES FOR SUNDAY SERVICES

PRESBYTERIANS PLAN FOR SPECIAL MUSIC.

BECOMING AWARE OF GOD

Will Be Pastor's Theme in Second of Series of Sermons.

Special music by the choir, the teaching of a new hymn, and the second of a series of sermons upon "Christianity, The Wonderful Way of Living," is planned for the evening services at the Presbyterian Church next Sunday.

For the opening half hour at 7:30 o'clock, the choir will sing two anthems. "The Pilgrims' Chorus," by Verdi, and "Evensong," by Roe, are the anthems. "Sun of My Soul' by Keble is the title of the duet by L. A. Richman and Emery Airy. A solo is also planned.

Mr. Richman plans to include in this first part of the service, the learning of some of the hymns which are not so familiar here, but which ought to be well known to Christian folk. The singing by the congregation is one of the parts of the Sunday evening services that is being stressed.

The first of this type of service was held last Sunday night and was well received. Definite plans have been made for the Sunday evening service up through July.

"Becoming Aware of God" is the theme for the twenty minute sermon by the pastor, the Rev. S. P. Allison. This is the second of the series on "What It Means to Be a Christian," that is now being preached. "Christianity—the Wonderful Way of Living," was the theme last Sunday evening. Mr. Allison said, last Sunday evening "Christianity is that wonderful way in which we have a glad and growing awareness of working and living with God." This coming Sunday evening the sermon will deal with how we can have this awareness of God.
